VOL. CXV. No. 255. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1914. PRICE, 2 CENTS

CITY FATHERS IN WAR OF WORDS

Exciting Scene in Lower Board Over Condition of Water Supply.

ATTACKS COMMITTEE.

Calm Succeeds Troubling of Water and Common Council Proceeds With Regular Order of Business.

The City Council was in session about an hour and a half last night. An average volume of business was presented.

A resolution was introduced empowering the finance committee to borrow $50,000 with which to meet the current expenses of the city until the close of the fiscal year, May 31, 1915. It was referred to the finance and public property committees, and an adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held next Thursday night to act upon the report of the committee.

A spirited colloquy in the lower board between Messrs. Brockett and Bendheim over the procedure of the health committee in connection with the investigation of the city's water supply was at times animating. Mr. Bendheim attacked the committee for what he thought was unnecessary delay in making a report, which brought forth a rejoinder from Mr. Brockett.

The bulk of the business presented was a general nature and caused but little discussion.

Board of Aldermen.

But two papers were presented in the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Ballenger introduced a resolution authorizing the committees on finance and public property, to prepare a deed conveying a square of ground bounded by First, Fairfax, Montgomery and Royal streets, belonging to the Old Dominion Glass Works for $500.

The resolution was referred to the committees on finance and public property. The paper was returned by the Common Council, that board having added the committee on general laws. This board concurred.

A communication from the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce in relation to the Virginia League of Municipalities which will meet in that city on the 9th proximo was received. It suggested that Alexandria be represented at the meeting. The Aldermen took no action in the matter.

The action of the Common Council upon all papers sent in was concurred in by unanimous votes.

When a resolution appropriating $75 to pay the expenses of City Engineer to the Good Roads Congress to be held at Atlanta, passed by the Common Council, was read, Mr. Wilkins spoke in favor of concurring in the action of the lower board. He suggested that there was much to be learned at such gatherings and that the city might save much more than the expenses of the City Engineer should he attend and hear the experiences of others engaged in the construction of public improvements.

Mr. Ballenger said he would vote for the appropriation on this occasion, but it would be the last time he would concur in the expenditure of the city's money for such purposes. He called attention to the fact that the city was about to borrow $50,000 with which to meet its current obligations until May 31, 1915, and it was the expenditure of small sums here and there which amounted to much in the aggregate.

The board adjourned to meet on Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Common Council.

Delayed action on a report of the State Board of Health on the condition of the water supplied the city by the Alexandria Water Company, brought about a lively debate at the meeting of Common Council last night between Councilmen Charles Bendheim and A. D. Brockett in which personalities were used and which threatened at a time to result in an encounter between the two Councilmen.

Mr. Brockett, who is chairman of the committee on health of Council, presented the report of the State Board together with a mass of correspondence between the committee, the health department and the Alexandria Water Company. He explained that the committee was unable to make a complete report at this time but said that the correspondence would show that the conditions at the water plant had been greatly improved by the instalation of a clorine plant for the purification of the water. A letter from the water company stated that they had made chemical analysis of the water since September 3rd and found that it was pure and suitable for drinking purposes.

Mr. Bendheim, who is chairman of a special committee to investigate the rates charged by the water company, sharply criticised the health committee for their delay in bringing in the report, intimating that the Alexandria Water Company was being protected. He said that the health committee had had the report for two months while the people were in danger of their lives. The report was so important, he said, that it deserved a special meeting of Council to consider it but instead it was permitted to drag along. He asked for the placing of the responsibility for the holding up o fthe report. "Who has had the papers?" asked Mr. Bendheim. "The chairman of the health committee, Mr. Brockett, has been absent from the last two meetings of Council, and I think it is time that he explain."

Mr. Brockett in an impassioned answer to Mr. Bendheim, declared that if the speaker had made the intimation he did on the street he would answer it personally. He declared that the assertion was not so. Council, he said, was not organized until September 1st and immediately adjourned until September 14th. He went away on his vacation and did not return until September 15th. There had been some delay in organizing his committee and if there is any fault in making an earlier report to Council it was not the fault of the health committee or Mr. Brockett.

Mr. Brockett said: "If the gentleman has anything against me personally let him express it on the outside and not rail at me in Council."

Mr. Bendheim said that he had nothing personal against Mr. Brockett and in a short time the dove of peace was again hovering in the neighborhood.

Council decided to refer the entire matter back to the health committee, and Mr. Brockett declared that he had no objection to the matters being handled by the special committee of which Mr. Bendheim is chairman, in connection with their investigation of the rates charged by the water company.

A resolution authorizing the committee on finance to borrow $50,000 to meet the current expenses of the city was referred to the committee on finance. Mr. Burke, of that committee, told Council that city would have an overdraft of $10,000 within a week and that the contemplated loan would not cover any of the cost of the new high school building for which an appropriation of $40,000 has been made.

Councilman Bendheim offered a resolution which was referred to the light committee, directing the discontinuance by the city of the sale of gas stoves on the ground that it was unprofitable.

The gas supplied by the city gas works was discussed and Councilman Brockett offered a resolution appropiating $250 to employ an expert to come to Alexandria and go over the plant and see what was the matter with the quality of the gas. The resolution was referred to the committee on light.

Through Graham and Ogden, real estate agents, the Old Dominion Glass Company offered $500 for the square of ground owned by the city, bounded by First, Fairfax, Montgomery and Royal streets. This was referred to the joint committee on finance, public property and general laws.

Councilman Leadbeater informed Council that Mayor Fisher had written a letter of thanks to the Washington fire department for the assistance given when the King warehouse was destroyed and had received a letter stating that no expense was attached to the service.

It was decided to hold a joint session at the next meeting for the purpose of electing a health officer.

GERMANS MEET HEAVY LOSSES

Repulsed Last night by Allies in a Fierce Attack on Craonne.

HEAVY SNOW FALLING

Kaiser's Left Wing Thrown Back Across Frontier—Wasting Men in Attempts to Take French Ports.

Paris, Oct., 28—The German forces were repulsed with heavy losses in a violent night attack in the vicinity of Craonne last night, according to an official communique given out this morning.

Paris, Oct. 28—With a heavy snow falling at dawn the French today resumed their assault on the German lines on the eastern frontier and the advance on Metz is proceeding steadily.

This strong offensive movement started from Nancy and Toul indicates that the German left is being thrown back across the frontier, while the allies' desperate resistance is holding the powerful force in check along the coast.

Marked significance is attached here to the advance of the French armies with headquarters at Belfort into upper Alsace, the first strong offensive since the early days of the war.

Advices from the north today say that there was a slight let up in the fighting along the Nieuport-Dixmude line last night, but that at other points the battle continued without interruption. The work of bringing up re-enforcements by both sides continues. Despite the fierceness of the fighting there is no immediate sign it is approaching any conclusion. Reports reaching military headquarters here indicate the Germans seem as determined as ever to take Dunkirk and Calais and are wasting men with great prodigality.

The fighting on the eastern French frontier continues without interruption. It is stated that slow but substantial progress is now being made at every point and the air of optimism, which disappeared when the Germans forced the Yser, is again very much in evidence.

London Oct. 28—The Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Mail places the losses of the Germans in the severe fighting which he says has culminated in their being shoved back north of the Yser, at 16,000 killed, and 30,000 wounded or captured.

ILLINOIS MINE HORROR.

But Little Hope Entertained of Rescuing Fifty Men.

Royalton, Ill., Oct. 28.—With twenty-nine bodies of victims of Tuesday's explosion in the North mine of the Franklin County Coal Company ranged in rows for identification in improvised morgues, and the corpses of three more victims sighted within the drifts, rescuers today continued their search in the hope of finding still alive some of the fifty who remain imprisoned.

Eleven of the dead had been identified early today.

Rescuers following their canvass of the survivors declared today that at least fifty men remain in the mine, and expressed slight hope that any were still alive.

The fire has been extinguished.

FREE OF POISONING CHARGE.

Second Grand Jury Refuses to Indict Mrs Crawford.

Atlanta, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford was a free woman yesterday after a grand jury here refused to indict her on a charge of poisoning her husband, Joshua Crawford, ar. Atlanta capitalist, who died in 1909.

This was the second "no bill" returned against Mrs. Crawford and under the Georgia law criminal proceedings cannot be brought on a charge after two grand juries have refused to indict.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The correspondent of the London Daily Mail, in Northern France, telegraphing under date of Sunday night regarding the fighting on the River Yser, says: "There were 2,500 German bodies in the Yser Canal this morning after the fighting in the night. Many of them were drowned and others were bayoneted. The very water itself was bloody, while Dixmude's streets were strewn thick with the dead.

A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says that a Constantinople report to German sources says that 14,000 British trops are holding both sides of the Suez Canal.

News has been received of the death at Evington, Va., of Judge E. D. Saunders, for many years dean of the law department of Tulane University, and former law partner of Chief Justice White, of the United States Supreme Court.

It is reported that an attempt has been made to assassinate General Francisco Villa by an agent said to have been commissioned and paid by General Pablo Gonzales, General Carranza's stanch supporter. The would-be assassin, Francisco I. Mugia, was executed.

Campaign to secure $10,000,000 to provide annuities for superannuated ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church and for widows and children of deceased ministers was begun yesterday by the board of conference claimants in Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, John Marshall place and C street northwest Washington. The Rev. J. B. Hingeley, corresponding secretary of the board of conference claimants, explained to the delegates that although a campaign for $5,000,000 was the original idea, a fund of more than $10,000,000 will be realized if all conferences of the church are able to secure the money necessary for their needs in that direction.

The retail district of Halifax, N. S., was visited yesterday by a fire which caused damage estimated at $200,000.

A severe earthquake was felt in Florence and Milan yesterday. The inhabitants of Florence were thrown into a panic, but the shock did little damage. At Milan considerable alarm was also caused among the people, but there were no casualities.

A dispatch to the London Evening News from Rotterdam says General von Beseler, the conqueror of Antwerp, is dead. It is said the newspaper adds, that he shot himself Thursday in his room at Bruges.

Lena Kotzen, 3-year-old daughter of Jacob Kotzen, of Baltimore, was killed almost instantly and four other members of the family injured when a dayton in which they were riding was overturned by an automobile at Eager street and Central avenue about 6:.5 o'clock last evening.

BIG JAPANESE LINER SUNK

Berlin, Oct 28—The German cruiser Emden continues to evade the pursuing squardon af twenty British and French warships and nearly the total reserve strength of the Japanese navy.

An official report received from her commander shows that she is now harassing Japanese commerce. The big Japanese liner Kamasaka Maru en route to Singapore from Japanese ports with a valuable cargo, has been sunk in the Indian ocean.

BLEAK WINTER AGAINST GERMANS

Retreat Embarrassed by Severe Weather and Scant Supplies.

WARSAW 75 MILES OFF.

Battle in Russian Poland Regarded as One of the Most Important in the Entire War.

Petrograd, Oct. 28.—Advices from the front say that snow is again interfering with the offensive of the army because it is delaying the movement of transport to the front In consequence the rapidity of the German retreat on tehir East Prussian positions has been slightly halted and they are putting up a much more determined resistance.

At no point, however, have they been able to assume the offensive.

Reports from Galicia say that the fighting between the Russian left and the combined Austro-German armies continues with no definite result. At no poin have the Austrians crossed the San River.

The latest reports from Przemsyl declare that the fortress is on fire at several places and that it is being badly battered by the constant shelling from the Russian guns. News dispatches state that the evacuation of the city has begun, but no official confirmation is to be held.

Petrograd, Oct. 28—The German armies driven seventy-five miles west and south of Warsaw are trying desperately to resume the offensive. Thus far they have not succeeded, for the Russian vanguard is so close to them and in such strength that all efforts to stem the rout and reform the lines have been prevented by direct attacks.

The battle in Russian Poland, which is regarded here as the greatest and probably the most important of the war in both east and west, cannot be regarded yet as finished. Undeniable however, the advantage rests with the Russian forces and there is every promise that the successes will be continued. The Duke Nicholas has brought reinforcements, to press against the Kaiser's troops and they are getting no rest.

The extremities of the climate at this time of the year in the battle zone has worked excessive hardships among the Germans. In many instances their soldiers have been glad to surrender to escape death by freezing and starvation. Snow is falling in the mountain region and the hard Cossacks are taking advantage of the situation to push the enemy on at a time when it is most imperative for him that he should be able to rest and rehabilitate his armies.

The retreating Germans are weakened by disease, and thousands of them are unable to keep up the terrific pace toward the frontier. Russian ambulances find many of them hiding in hedges and haystacks some suffering from typhus and dysentery.

GIGANTIC EAGLE KILLED

Huge Bird Had Been Capturing Sheep in Highland County.

Monterey, Va., Oct. 28—One of the largest eagles ever seen in Highland was killed a few days ago by Homer Hull, a young farmer-citizen of the Vanderpool community. Mr. Hull had gone to their mountain field to look for some missing sheep and his attention was attracted by the loud squealing of a pig which had been caught by the eagle not far away. He hastened in that direction and the eagle left its prey and perched on a stone fence. Mr. Hull had his gun with him and soon ended the morning feast. While the king of the air was still warm, he was stretched full length, and measured, his length from tip to tip being seven feet. The pig, which was about a month old, was not killed though there were two ugly wounds in the sides where the eagle had buried its talons. It is supposed that Mr. Hull came up just as the deadly swoop was made.

POUNDING TO PIECES

Torpedo Boat Paulding Ashore Near Cape Henry.

Norfolk, Va., Oct., 28—Eighty-four officers and men dressed in life belts were clinging desperately to the United States torpedo boat Paulding last night while the little craft apparently was pounding to pieces in the heavy seas inside Cape Henry about half a mile off Lynnhaven Inlet.

Half a mile away the Battleships Michigan and Delaware, powless to go to the rescue, are anchored and in constant wireless commuication with the Paulding. Closer in, but also unable to send out life boats or lend assistance in any other way, the repair boat Panther and the supply ship Dixie, are standing by waiting for the wind and seas to abate.

At midnight the Paulding had been ashore for twenty-two hours, having been caught by a terrific northeast gale that swooped down on the entire Atlantic flotilla, assembled for target practice off the Virginia Capes. The little vessels fled for safety and the Paulding, together with the Burrows, Cummins, Drayton and some of the others put into Lynnhaven Bay and dropped anchor.

In the heavy seas the anchors would not hold, and the Paulding and Burrows went ashore. The latter managed to float herself, but with a hole stove in her bow was forced to call on the Dixie for assistance. The Dixie turned the Burrows over to a navy tug, which towed her to the Portsmouth yard. The Juett also was driven on a sand bar and got away only after one of her propellers had been broken off. She, too, was conveyed to the navy yard by a tug.

The Paulding, stuck fast, sent out frantic wireless calls and the Michigan and Delaware, Dixie and Panther stood by, but found the surf too heavy for lifeboats, while the water was too shallow for any boat to go to the rescue. The Panther managed to get a line to the Paulding, but the little ship's frail hull was found to be so wedged in the sand that the strain of tugging her loose was declared too perilious.

Life-savers from the Cape Henry station also made repeated afforts to reach the Paulding, but were driven back by the surf.

At midnight all efforts to rescue the crew of the Paulding were abandoned The latest wireless from the Paulding said the men were making the best of it and would not take to the surf in their life belts until the ship actually started to break up. Last reports to the navy yard said the Paulding was lying on the bottom of the bay between two sand bars, but has taken in little or no water.

CAST AWAY SWORDS.

Weapon Discarded on Battlefield for Humble Rifle of Private Soldier.

Aix- La- Chapelle, Oct. 17—German officers are throwing away their swords. They have found them useless in modern warfare. The high percentage of fallen officers on the German side is being attributed to the carrying of the weapons, which marks them officers and makes them targets for concentrated fire.

Stromberg returned home at midnight and announced that he intended to kill his wife.

QUAKE ADDS TO HORRORS

Bombardment, Fire and Seismic Disturbance in Servian City.

London, Oct. 28—A dispatch to the Times from Shabats, Servia, says:

"This city presents a desolate spectacle. Two hundred and fifty buildings were destroyed by bombardment. This was followed by fire, doing more damage, and then came an earthquake, which shook the city so severely that the houses which remain are almost falling to pieces.

"Finally, the deserted town was visited by a band of expert thieves, who systematically looted every house from cellar to roof. The contents of shops were thrown into the streets, all safes were blown open. Contents of houses were smashed, pictures were slashed, and furniture splintered in an orgy of destruction.

"Before the Austrians left they destroyed the principal local church. Large numbers of Serb hostages, including the principal residents, were taken to Austria as prisoners. Hundreds of the local populace who were killed by bayonet thrusts for various alleged misdeeds, were buried by the Austrians.

"The senseless bombardment still continues, although the town is deserted except for sentries. On Thursday the Serbs succeeded in laying mines, which sank an Austrian monitor."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Interesting News Notes About People of Alexandria—Happenings in Society.

One of the most elegant social features of the state conference of the D. A. R., now in session, was the reception given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. William B. Smoot, at their home in Prince street.

The house was decorated with the season's most gracious offerings of chrysanthemums. The conservatory, whose palms afforded a screen for the orchestra, was a beautiful picture with the many-hued lanterns throwing a riot of color over the gowns of the ladies.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Smoot were Mrs. William J. Morton, regent of the Mt. Vernon Chapter of the D. A. R. and Mrs. Maupin, state regent.

The appetizing punch was served by Mrs. George Uhler and Miss Loula Smoot.

Assisting in the dining room were a group of young ladies. Among them were Miss Mary Snowden, Miss Clarence Snowden, Miss Nellie Uhler, Miss Esther Burke, Miss Esther Green, the Misses Boswell, and Miss Christina Kemper. The beautifully laid table bore as its center piece, a large basket of giant chrysanthemums, which must have been plucked from the garden of the gods. Surrounding it sparkled the light of candles through crystal and bead shades.

The gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Smoot was enjoyed by a large number of guests.

Mr. Myer Genzberger, a native of this city, but now engaged in business in Butte, Montana, is on a visit to his old home. He is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. George Prior Anderton, for the marriage of their daughter, Alice Adelaide, to Mr. Julian Thompson Burke, Jr. The ceremony will take place on Wednesday, November 18th, at 8 o'clock at Christ Church.

VIEWPOINT OF WOMEN

Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett Delivers Address on This Theme Before Daughters American Revolution.

Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, president of the National Council of Women, was the principal speaker today at today's program of the convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Virginia in session in the auditorium of the Wagar Apartments. Her subject was the "World's Viewpoint of Women," and she gave a most instructive talk based on her investigation of the condition of women in Europe. Mrs. Barrett has recently returned from a five months trip abroad during which time she attended the session of the International Council of Women in Rome and also visited the councils of women in all the principal countries of Europe. She was appointed a special representative of the Bureau of Immigration, and her report has just been filed with Commissioner Cammanetti.

At yesterday afternoon's session a letter was read from Mrs. William Cummings Story, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in which she cordially greeted the Virginia delegates and wished them success. In another communication Mrs. Story suggested that in accordance with the expressed wish of the President, contributions for the women and children who are suffering as a result of the war in Europe should be sent through the Red Cross and thus preserve the President's proclamation of neutrality.

The guest of honor at the D. A. R. meeting this morning was Mrs. Smallwood, vice president general for District of Columbia.

The delegates went to Mt. Vernon today at noon and were entertained at luncheon at the Ellis' Cafe by Mrs. William A. Smoot.

At the afternoon session today the election of officers will take place. An evening session will also be held tonight when the unfinished business will be concluded.

Last night the delegates were entertained at a reception given by Mrs. William B. Smoot. In the receiving line with Mrs. Smoot were Mrs. W. J. Morton, regent of Mt. Vernon Chapter, and Mrs. J. F. Maupin, state regent.

PASTOR'S SON ACCUSES LUNT.

Young Huckel Says Auto Thief Stole His Bicycle.

Out of a group of 10 prisoners, a young son of the Rev. Dr. Oliver Huckel, pastor of Associate Congregational Church, in Baltimore, picked out William L. Lunt, awaiting trial for stealing bicycles and an automobile, as the man who gave him a note to deliver several weeks ago and in his absence rode off on his bicycle.

Learning of the arrest of Lunt, the Rev. Dr. Huckel took his son, accompanied by Headquarters Detective Pohler, to the jail yesterday to see if the lad could identify the thief who rode off with his bicycle. It took young Huckel but a minute to pick out Lunt, who later admitted that he did steal the boy's bicycle.

Albert D. Spencer, 2133 West North Avenue, another lad whose bicycle was stolen, identified Lunt at the jail as the thief that approached him while he was riding his wheel and asked him to deliver a note while he held his bicycle.

It developed yesterday that Lunt, who told Detective Pohler following his arrest on the charge of stealing the automobile of Dr. Albert L. Chambers, a member of the School Board, that he had been pardoned from the Virginia State Penitentiary had escaped from the institution.

Lunt, it will be remembered, was recently arrested in Fairfax county, near Alexandria, by the Alexandria police on the charge of stealing Dr. Chambers automobile in Baltimore.

TOUCH OF WINTER.

Warmer Weather in Wake of Recent Drop in Temperature.

Assurance that the touch of winter will be followed immediately by warmer weather generally, throughout the country was given last night by the government forecasters. Warmth was said to be moving east-ward in the wake of the chill wave that brought freezing temperatures and killing frosts to the Ohio and upper and middle Mississippi Valley.

Unofficial reports from Harrisonburg, Va., last night said ice had formed in some places there a quarter of an inch thick.

TO STOP SALE OF STOVES

City Council Will Relinquish Business of Selling Some in the Near Future.

As will be seen by the proceedings of the City Council, Alexandria is about to go out of the business of selling gas stoves. The resolution was referred to the light committee, which will doubtless recommend its passage.

A few years ago a resolution was passed by both boards of the Council providing that the city procure different patterns of gas stoves and sell the same to residents at actual cost. Councilman J. F. Birrell was the patron of the measure, and he acted with the best motives. The object was to induce housekeepers to utilize gas in cooking, ironing, etc., and thus increase the receipts from the city's works.

The purchasers were given a year in which to pay for the stoves in monthly installments. Some persons procured them and met all the obligations promptly. Others, however, defaulted in meeting the monthly payments, and the gas light officials were given trouble and the city put to the expense of forcing payments. The committee on light are convinced that the selling of gas stoves is not a paying enterprise, and the resolution introduced last night is the prelude to final action when the city will go out of the business.

Local dealers in stoves protested at the first when the city became their competitors in the sale of these modern conveniences.

The home of William W. Holland, a well known colored man of Woodlawn, was burned to the ground yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. The house and all of its contents was destroyed. They were valued at about $1800. The blaze is supposed to have started from the top and the strong northwest wind aided and it only required about 25 minutes to destroy the building. It was partly covered by insurance.

HANDLING OF DRUNKARDS.

"If a man is a hopeless, helpless, habitual drunkard, chloroform him."

This suggestion is made in all seriousness by Stewart Browne, banker and big real estate owner, who is fighting the plan of New York City to spend a quarter of a million dollars for an institution in the country where habitual drunkards may be sent to recuperate and, if possible, overcome the curse of the habit.

"These men will be sent to the country at the taxpayers' expense," said Mr. Browne, in a heated and serious speech. "They will eat fresh eggs and vegetables and have a good time generally while they are going into training for their next bout with John Barleycorn.

"What good are these men to the community anyhow? It seems to me it would be a much better plan for the city to chloroform them."

Another suggestion was that drunkards be put on board ship and sent to the European war.

Otho, one of the Roman emperors, had a more humane mode of dealing with such unfortunates. All persons found drunk in the city were brought to the market place next day and tossed up in blankets to the amusement of hundreds of spectators who came to that place daily to see the fun.

GERMAN TRIP HAMMER A DISAPPOINTMENT.

Today's dispatches from the European war zone show that the terrific blows of Kaiser William are being met by foemen worthy of his steel. The fact that the allies have forced the heretofore regarded invincible invaders over the frontier is a bitter pill for the Fatherland to swallow. Germany has sacrificed the lives of many thousands of men and spent millions of money since last August when her army, probably the most powerful ever mobilized in ancient or modern times, set out for Paris. Her object was to deal France a terrific blow, before the defenders could be ready to meet them. It all looked well enough on maps, which had been prepared by the Berlin war office years ago, but when the would-be conquerers started on their crusade they met Belgium in arms, which protested against them passing through that country. This snag gave the allies time to propare for the reception of the Kaiser, and from that time to the present the Germans have realized that they have bitten off more than they imagined.

Emperor William has at times become rash when he found his army was not meeting with the success he had supposed was assured, and he has found that other nations, while not always on dress parade, have much of the martial in them.

The French and English have ever been regarded as great fighters when put to the test. The shades of Nelson, Wellington and Napoleon may be looking down upon the present generation of English and French watching the display of their inherited tactics.

The spook of Frederick the Great may also be a spectator, but restless over the failure of the Prusians of today in the war they have precipated.

MISS BERTHA'S WITTICISM.

While Governor Stuart is battling for the Democracy on the firing line in the Ninth District, enveloped in the dust and din of the conflict, his secretary lolls in the upper chamber of the citadel, with the drawbridge lowered to span the moat, and receives complimentary mention in Edtor Bertha Robinson's Orange Observer to this effect: "Dear Governor Stuart says that it will never do in the world to compliment Secretary Forward, because it will turn his head. Well, we just can't help that! We are bound to say that he is too handsome and nice for anything. Perhaps it is Alexander's political complexion that wins the admiration of Editor Bertha. Milt Fling is of quite another political complexion. See what she says of him: "Milton Fling is a candidate for Congress in this district, but after November 3rd, his name will be changed to Milton Flung.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

THE PRESIDENT'S TESTIMONIAL

The letter of President Wilson, commending Hon. C. C. Carlin for reelection by the people of the Eighth Congressional District, published in yesterday's Gazeztte, was read with pride by democrats throughout the State. It was a just tribute to a worthy representative, which was uttered by the chief executive of the nation. During the time Mr. Wilson has been occupying the presidential chair he has selected men upon whom he could rely as counselors and patrons of measures provided for in the democratic platform. Mr. Carlin was one of the President's early selections, and he has met the expectations of the head of the nation and the latter would be loth to lose his co-operation.

Virginia has always had sons in Congress of whom she has been justly proud. The fact that the President of the United States finds coadjutors in representatives from the Old Dominion will add to the honest pride our state has always felt at the honors shown her sons from the days of the Colonial Congress.

RESERVES IN EXCESS OF LAW

Comptroller of Currency Makes Good Showing in His Statement

Comptroller of the Currency Williams last night made public statements showing the reserves held by national banks in the twelve Federal reserve districts on the date of his last call for their condition, the reserves required under the present national banking act, and those in excess of the amounts required by the Federal reserve act.

According to his figures, the reserves held September 12 were $580,000,000 in excess of the amount required under the new law. Of this vast sum, $53,000,000 was in Boston district, $83,000,000 in New York, $70,000,000 in, Philadelphia, $59,000,000 in Cleveland, $21,000,000 in Richmond, $14,000,000 in Atlanta, $88,000,000 in St. Louis, $43,600,000 in Minneapolis, $57,000,000 in Kansas City, $24,000,000 in Dallas, and $50,000,000 in San Francisco.

The statement shows that on September 12 the reserve of all national banks was about $115,000,000 above legal requirements.

APPALLING LOSSES.

Frightful Sacrifice of Life of Germans And Allies.

Figures that appear in dispatches indicate the appalling extent to which the losses in the war have grown.

A Copenhagen dispatch estimates the German losses during the fighting in France at 750,000.

Paris hears the allies have lost 10,000 men a day in the ten days' fighting over toward the Belgian coast in what has become known as the battle of Flanders. The German losses in the same battle have been correspondingly large in not larger.

One dispatch says the Germans lost 20,000 men "In the recent fighting" Another tells of 2,000 German dead in front of one position.

All dispatches admit the losses in the battle which resulted in the German retreat in Poland have been enormous. In the early stages of the fighting the loss on the German side was placed by Russian reports at 40,000.

The Germans say they have more than 296,000 prisoners.

A rough estimate of the dead, wounded, and missing of all the belligerents puts the number far beyond 2,000,000 men.

FLOOD SAYS HE VOTED "DRY."

Writes Campaign Letter to Voters of Highland County Outlining His Position

Richmond, Oct. 28.—Congressman Hal D. Flood voted the "dry" ticket in the prohibitionist election. The fact became known here for the first time yesterday afternoon, and the news was discussed with a show of lively interest at the Capitol, and in local political circles. The attitude of Congressman Flood had been a matter of conjecture.

The congressman had persistently declined to commit himself during the campaign to interviewers. While his intimate friends insisted that he was an advocate of state-wide prohibition, the impression was fixed in other quarters that Mr. Flood's convictions were on the other side.

It now appears, however, that he definitely declared himself in a letter addressed to V. B. Bishop, of Monterey, dated October 17.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

Sixty-Nine Chapters Represented at Convocation in Richmond.

Richmond, Oct. 28—The one hundredth and seventh grand annual convocation of the Grand Chapter of Virginia, Royal Arch Masons, was opened at the Masonic Temple last night at 8 o'clock by the grand high priest, Joseph W. C. Bryant, of Clifton Forge. Every officer of the grand chapter was present.

These include I. H. Adams, Jr., Lynchburg, grand King; James W. S. Butt, Portsmouth, grand scribe; Geo. W. Poe, grand treasurer; Josephus V. Bidgood, assistant grand treasurer James B. Blanks, Petersburg, grand secretary; J. G. Hankins, Richmond, assistant grand secretary pro tem; John R. Charleton, Richmond, grand captain of host; J. E. W. Timberman Alexandria, grand principal sojourner; James Bowman, Roanoke, grand royal arch captain; James H. Price, Richmond, grand master third vail; James T. Cochran, The Plains, grand master second vail; E. Fenno Heath, Newport News, grand master first vail Rev. F. T. McFaden, D.D. Richmond, grand chaplain; Oscar J. Adams, Richmond grand marshal; James A. Pamplin, Richmond, grand tiler; William J. Hubard, Lynchburg, grand lecturer Jas. E. Alexander, Alexandria, assitant grand lecturer; Jos. W. Eggleston, Richmond, chairman fraternal correspondence.

The grand high priest delivered his address, which showed the grand chapter to be in the most flourishing condition in its history, and committees for the session were appointed. The sixty-nine chapters in Virginia were represented by delegates.

At the session to-night new officers will be elected for the coming year, and, as it is customary to promote the officers in line, except the grand treasurer and secretary, it is likely that H. Adams, Jr., of Lynchburg, will be the next head of the order in Virginia. He will have the appointment of a new man for the first vail, which is in reality the first step in the line.

Among the notables present are William B. McChesney, Staunton; Major Stanley W. Martin, Lynchburg, past grand high priests; A. A. Eskridge, Staunton; C. W. Rogers, Charlottesville; William Lee Davis, Portsmouth; Earnest L. Cunningham, Newport News, and Professor J. J. Davis, of Blacksburg.

"BURGULAR TRUST" IN CHICAGO

Crime Committee of Windy City About to Flash Searchlight.

Chicago, Oct. 28—Exposure of a new criminal combination known as the "burglar trust" gives promise of sensations equaling if not overshadowing those brought to light in the recent investigation of intrigue and friendship linking the pickpocket with unscrupulous policemen. The Merriam crime committee soon will flash its searchlight on this branch of criminal "industry."

The principal element in this clique is "the fence," which purchases stolen property from thieves and disposes of it through avenues best known to themselves. They pay the burglar about one-tenth the value of the plunder.

It has been whispered in underworld circles that men at whose homes members and officers of the police department have been known to visit are reported to have made fortunes by these methods.

They secure "good jobs" through observers, who spy on Chicago residences while pursuing such occupations as junk dealers, vegetable peddlers, canvassers, and agents.

There are at least five of these organizations in Chicago. According to reports a junk dealer on the southwest side is said to have a "corporation" that not only operates in Chicago, but finances expeditions to other cities.

SWANSON SPEAKS FOR IRVINE.

Messages From President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo Express Hope of Democratic Victory.

Bristol, Va., Oct. 28—Senator Claude A. Swanson spoke here Monday night in the interest of the candidacy of R. Tate Irvine, the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Ninth District. Mr. Irvine also spoke. Both men were introduced by Judge John W. Price. Senator Swanson talked vigorously in praise and defense of the course of the Wilson administration, declaring that the Congress just adjourned had made the most notable record in point of constructive Statesmanship in the history of the country. He referred to Mr. Irvine as an original Wilson man, telling of his efforts to bring about the nomination of Wilson at Baltimore, and urged the voters to send him to Congress as a man who could be depended upon to stand by the President in further important legislation.

At the opening of the meeting, Judge Price read a letter from President Wilson commending Mr. Irvine and expressing the wish that he might win. A telegram from Secretary McAdoo expressed regret that he would be unable to speak for Mr. Irvine, saying in conclusion that he earnestly hoped he would be sent to Congress to "help the President to carry on the great work he is doing for the country."

CANADA ALARMED

Calls Upon United States for Aid in Present Crisis.

Ottawa, Ontario, Oct 28—Ambassador von Bernstorff's declaration that Germany has the right if not the intention, to land troops in Canada, has given rise to a lively discussion here in government circles as to Canada's future in the event of Germany crippling or destroying the English navy.

The subject is receiving the closest attention of the minister of justice and of Sir Joseph Poe, undersecretary of state for external affairs.

Extra precautions are being taken as to Germans and Austrians. Practically all of them are under close watch, and all along United States frontier secret service agents, immigrant agents, and soldiers are keeping a lookout for Germans and Austrians of whom there are said to be half a million, as reservists, in the United States.

The immigration officials are taking no chances, and no one is admitted to Canada who does not comply with the strict immigration laws in every respect. That military officials fear the possibility of a German invasion from the States is not doubted. Home guard regiments are beng organized everywhere, and drilling goes on constantly.

The United States government has been placed in possession of Canada's information, and has been asked to take all necessary steps to prevent the arrival in the Dominion of Germans and Austrians.

ADD NOTHING TO INCOMES.

Grand Juries Make Reports of Investigations, But No Results.

Richmond, Oct. 28—That the work of the Commissioners of Revenue of Virginia cities and counties has been more throughly performed this year than ever before, or that the grand juries investigating tax returns have been exceedingly lax, are the alternatives from which those who are discussing the absence of results from the investigations have to choose.

Reports of investigations made by a few grand juries in different communities of the State have been received at the office of C. Lee Moore, State Auditor, but there has been nothing in the reports. "The grand jury has investigated," is the burden of them all. Not once has any report been received that the taxes due the State have been dodged by any of th taxpayers of the community investigated. Last year and the year previous many thousands of dollars were added to the State's income as the result of investigations instituted by grand juries at the request of Auditor Moore.

Mr. Moore expects to make known in a few days the figures for personal and real property assessments for the year. There is reason to believe there will be very little increase in real estate values due to the fact that the public utilities have been switched from the books of the Commissioners of Revenue, to those of the State Corporation Commission. Personal property may show a small increase, but not to the extent shown in each of the last two or three years.

AN EVENTFUL VOYAGE

Relief Ship on Mission of Mercy With Mutinous and Murderous Crew

New York, Oct, 28.—Finishing what was intended to be a mission of peace, the American relief ship Red Cross arrived here Saturday from Europe with a lurid account of riots mutiny and attempted murder. The Red Cross sailed from New York on September 13th, bearing doctors, nurses and medical supplies for the European war zone.

Upon arrival here she bore 159 passengers and a young Dutch woman who had secretly boarded the ship as a stowaway just before it left Rotterdam.

Just after leaving this port on her trip eastward a fight broke out between the white and negro factions of the crew. On the second day out it was found that the German members of the crew, who had been discharged before the ship left this port, had wrecked the sanitary arrangements, the refrigerating plant and had plugged up the bilge pipes.

On September 25th twenty-five negro seamen mutined.

On October 4th J. Torrez, a mess boy, ran amuk with a long knife and tried to kill everyone in sight. The same day J. Larkin, an oiler, assaulted the chief with a monkey wrench, inflicting painful but not serious wounds.

On October 11th Emil Kovarik, chief master at arms, was assaulted by two sailors, R. Coffey and J. Jackson, who tried to strangle him. It took more than an hour to subdue them.

On October 15th J. Drain, a negro steward, attacked an oiler, knocking him unconscious. While gloating over his triumph another oiler attacked Drain, knocking him insensible.

Just before the ship reached New York another oiler, a white man, was found unconscious on the deck. He had been beaten over the head with some heavy instrument and probably will die.

The Red Cross was held up a number of times on her way from Rotterdam by British and French warships.

FIVE-MILE TUNNEL PIERCED.

Unites France With Switzerland And Cost $5,000,000.

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 28.—A five-mile tunnel through the Jura MoMuntains from Moutiers, France, to Grenchen, Switzerland, was pierced yesterday after three years of uninterrupted work.

The tunnel will shorten railway communication between Paris and Berne and Paris and Milan.

The cost of cutting the tunnel through the mountains was $5,000,000. Of this sum the Eastern Railroad of France contributed $2,000,000.

Bryan Refutes Republican Charge by Writing to Tenth District Man.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, in a personal letter to Congressman Hal Flood, of Virginia, expresses the hope that Flood "will be re-elected without trouble and by an increased majority." This proves conclusively the error of the assertion being made and used as a campaign statement by the Republicans of the Tenth District that Bryan is not in sympathy with Mr. Flood, and that because "Flood is a cog in the Virginia machine" the administration is not in favor of his re-election.

The statement has also been made by adherents of George Revercomb, the Republican, making the race against Flood, that if President Wilson and Secretary Bryan lived in the Tenth District they would not vote for Flood "because he is a wingster." Strong efforts have also been made to create capital out of the colloquy between Bryan and Flood at the Baltimore convention by stating that the breech has never healed and that Mr. Flood, although chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which handles State Department legislation is persona non grata with Secretary

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

METHOD OF LOSING FRIENDS

Chronic Grumbler Quickly Becomes Known as a Person Whom It Is Well to Avoid.

The chronic grumbler is not a good companion nor in any way an admirable person.

We fly from her as from a contagious disease. Nothing so certainly affects one's spirits as being in the constant company of a person who has a grievance.

The cherishing of discontent with our circumstances, business, dress, or any other thing in life soon robs us of beauty and marks the countenance with the lines of worry and ill temper that tell their own unhappy story.

Why anybody who is young should indulge in grumbling as a pastime is one of the puzzles that never are solved, yet such people there are, and we meet them in our sorrow almost every day.

If they happen to be passengers on a railway train they pile their bags and bundles on an extra seat for which they have not paid, are conveniently blind to the weariness of other passengers who are standing, and assume the aspect of martyrs when the conductor courteously but peremptorily informs them that they must make room.

On a street car they object to having the windows open, though the air may be laden with impurities from the congestion of the crowd; they scold and fret at the throng or the conductor and rail at Providence in general because everything in life is not arranged with a view to their comfort.

Don't be a chronic grumbler. It doesn't pay to waste one's precious energies that way.—Exchange.

SOLVED BY A COMPLIMENT

Natural Indignation of Adelaide Neilsen Quieted When James O'Neill Made His Explanation.

Adelaide Neilsen, who was universally acclaimed the greatest of Juliets, said that James O'Neill was the most gifted of all Romeos, despite the fact that the American actor once did an indiscreet thing, which riled the actress and which might have lessened their friendship had it not been for the quick and superlative wit of O'Neill.

It was immediately following a performance of "Romeo and Juliet," after the principals in this immortal drama had made the customary end to their miserable existence. Miss Neilsen, somewhat flushed, accosted O'Neill, who was walking toward his dressing room.

"Mr. O'Neill!" exclaimed the actress. "I think you did an awfully impolite thing in that last scene."

"What did I do?" asked the actor, trying hard to hold back a smile.

"What did you do? You know well enough what you did. When you pretended to kiss me you not alone kissed me, but you bit me."

"When did I bite you?" asked the actor.

"In my sleeping scene," said the actress, still ferocious, but losing ground.

"Ah, in the sleeping scene," said O'Neill. "Madam, the realism to your superb acting is appalling. I didn't bite you. You were dreaming!"

Browning's Disappointment.

Robert Browning's great hopes for his son were not fulfilled. One of the poet's disappointments was the rejection of a statue by "Pen" sent to the academy in the '80s.

Though Pen Browning's statue was rejected, two or three pictures painted in Belgium, clever in a hard, realistic technique, but very far from beautiful, were hung at the academy. Browning was sensitively anxious about the reputation of these works. On one occasion, when he was showing his son's pictures on a studio Sunday, he said to a friend who mentally noted the saying with its rather strained modesty: "You see, people expect so much from him because he had a clever mother." One of the pictures, by the way, represented an exceedingly large pig. There was no kind of impression about it. It was a pig seen through no temperament at all.

SHALL ENGLISH GIVE THANKS

Some Favor Suspending the Regular Service on This Occasion Because of No Harvest.

The discussion which is taking place just now as to the propriety of holding harvest thanksgiving services in our churches well illustrates the bewilderment which prevails among educated churchmen struggling to reconcile their more enlightened view of Nature with ecclesiastical traditions.

Some are disposed to hold that a display of public gratitude for benefits so clearly withheld would savor of ineptitude. What earnestness or spiritual worth, they ask, can attend an indiscriminate thanksgiving? If you ask and do not receive, ought you to be as thankful for benefits withheld as for benefits bestowed.

Theology apart, common sense revolts against a ceremonial which is so literal a sense goes against the grain. Some protest against the empty falsehood of a service wherein is sung the hymn beginning "When all is safely gathered in." How can farmers, crossing their blackened fields to enter a gayly decorated church, be expected to join in a chorus of gratitude?—London Nation.

RIGHT WAY TO PULL CANDY

Confection May Easily Be Made Tough If It Is Wrongly Handled—The Flavoring.

Here is a recipe that pulls well when rightly done.

Molasses Candy.—One cup of molasses, three cups of sugar, one cup of water, one cup of vinegar. When boiled up, one-half cup of melted butter. When done take off the stove and put one-half even teaspoon of soda in and stir briskly; turn at once in greased pan, watch the edges and turn into the center as it cools. When ready to handle altogether, proceed as above. Test in the usual way when done. Drop a little in cold water, and when brittle it is done.

Home Helps.

To clean lacquered brass wash in hot water, using soap if necessary. Polishes should be applied to unlacquered brass only.

Folded newspapers should be kept handy in the kitchen, and these placed under pots and kettles. If this is done every day when the pans are taken from the stove no grease spots will mar the kitchen table.

Avoid open shelves in a kitchen, as the dust soon gathers there. A wide window shade is splendid to keep out the dust, and far more sanitery than a curtain.

Croquettes to be fried in deep fat should stand for 15 minutes in the warm kitchen before being cooked. This will help the browning process.

One on Father.

Brightness personified is little Johnny Pule. Certain friends of the family consider him rather precocious—but that's quite another story. At any rate, he is the pride of his father's heart, and Pule, Sr., invariably refers to the youngster as a "regular chip from the old block."

The other night little Johnny looked up from his stool by the fireside, and ejaculated the query:

"I'm a chip from the old block, ain't I, father?"

"Yes, my son, indeed you are," came the proud reply.

"And, pa, you're the head of the family, ain't you?" asked the simple little lad.

"I am," replied Pule.

"Then," chuckled Johnny triumphantly, "you must be a blockhead!"

But we will draw a kindly veil over what followed.

Good Fellowship.

Good fellowship is as old as man. It is one of the elemental things—rooted in man with good and evil, love and hate. Its temples are where ever good men get together; its shrines and sanctuaries the hearts of men. More than the impetuous comradeship of youth, it is the settled faith of men in men. Passing all boundaries of nation, creed or calling, it asks only the open heart, the honest purpose, the cheerful countenance. Its password is the kindling eye, its pledge the hearty hand—its finest messages are unspoken. It is the golden age made manifest. Rites, religions, men, and measured passes—good fellowship remains; for it is eternal love of life, eternal faith, eternal charity and cheer.—James Edward Kehler.

Le Petit Caporal.

Las Cases, the biographer of Napoleon Bonaparte, thus describes the origin of the title Le Petit Caporal: A singular custom was established in the army of Italy, in consequence of the youth of the commander, or from some other cause.

After each battle the oldest soldiers used to hold a council and confer a new rank on their young general, who, when he made his appearance in the camp, was received by the veterans and saluted by his new title.

They made him a corporal at Lodi and a sergeant at Castiglione; and hence the surname of "Petit Caporal," which was for a long time applied to Napoleon by the soldiers.

How subtle is the chain which unites the most trivial circumstance to the most important events! Perhaps this very nickname contributed to his miraculous success on his return in 1815. While he was haranguing the first battalion, which he found it necessary to address, a voice from the ranks exclaimed, "Vive notre petit caporal! We will never fight against him!"

Will the Films Stop War?

The cinematograph as an institution has come to life since the last important war. It remains to be seen how a battle, or the awful fringes of a battle, will look upon the screen. For assuredly films will come into play. Soldiers have always said—and correspondents have in a measure agreed with them—that the truth of war cannot be told. How if the truth of war were now to be seen?

The late Colonel Stanley had photographs (daguerreotypes they would perhaps be called) of the dead and wounded taken after the Crimean engagements, but they were too horrible for exhibition. He showed them, long afterwards, to those who could bear it, sometimes to those who could not—and they will never forget them.

Her Fervor.

"So you have won the American heiress, after all," observed the friend.

"Yes," fervently replied the foreign nobleman, "she is mine—a gold mine."

Hand Mirror of Brass.

Now only Egypt's first ladies ever indulged in the luxury of a hand mirror. True, they were not made of the heavy plate glass that is used in those in present use.

Before this mirror became oxidized it was in a highly polished state, and brass, when polished, can reflect a face to all intents and purposes as well as glass. The body is round, or as round as it could be made with an Egyptian hammer, and the handle has the same graceful curves of those of today.
